

Sewer Sisters Garden Tour 2017

The 2017 Garden Tour is fast upon us. There are 6 homes on the tour this year. As always, docents will be available to explain the properties to you, and musicians will be performing at each site. Plant starts will be available via donations at most of the sites as well. Local artists will be displaying and selling their crafts in the grassy area across from Pam Trautman's house on 73rd Ave.

The tour is put on every other year by the Sewer Sisters for your education and enjoyment. It is also the major fundraiser for the group, which uses the money for projects like maintaining Shipwreck Corner. Check out the new derelict boat that was delivered on the site in mid May.

Summer Garden Tour presented by
Boston Harbor Sewer Sisters

$10 Admission

About the Tour:

Join us for this self-guided walking tour of six lovely gardens. You'll also tour a stone mason's studio and shop at the Artisan's Corner (at 73rd Ave. & Commercial Street) featuring the work of local artists. Plants are available for sale at each garden. This biannual fundraiser supports upkeep of our Shipwreck Corner garden, including installation of a sprinkler system.

Purchase Tickets:

Purchase the day of the tour at Shipwreck Corner, the entrance to Boston Harbor, the Boston Harbor Marina, or any garden along the way.

Parking:

Free parking at the Marina or along Boston Harbor Road.

Please leave your pets at home!
